Shaughnessy Dies From His Injury

Knickerbocker's Death Toll Now, 98 As Government Official Succumbs in Hospital

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—General A. H. Postmaster General B. H. Shaughnessy died today from injuries received in the Knickerbocker theater disaster. This brings the total number of deaths officially recorded by the police to 98.

C. W. A. Has An Expensive Month

The Community Welfare Association in January spent more money in operating than during any other one month in its history. The sum expended was $150.10, this not including the cost of fuel for which there was heavy demand, especially during the heavy snowfall. One factor in the increased sum spent for fuel was the number of quarantined children. When this sum is taken those who are affected cannot work and in many instances become a charge upon the community at large. It being necessary to supply such families with food.

A tubercular widow of 39 is living with her father who is also tubercular and her little girl of three. The child sleeps with her mother. In another case a family of four, in which there is a child with tubercular child lives in one room with one window and all sleep in one bed. A family of six has one bed and a couch. The parents are both down sick.

A colored woman whose husband is paralyzed, is earning $7 a week and endeavoring to support a family of six on her small earnings. Her children aged one, four, six and eight are much in need of clothes.

A widow who supports her children, aged three, six and nine years, has no money to buy shoes for them. They are barefooted.

An aged colored woman living alone fell in the fire when sick and burned her foot. Medical care was secured for her at once. Later two policemen carried her in a chair from her little cabin on a slippery snow-covered hillside to a machine which took her to the almshouse.

Interest Continues As to State Attorney

Interest continues to be keen in the appointment of a Commonwealth's Attorney for Pittsylvania county. It will be made probably on Feb. 15th when Judge Turner Clement assumes the circuit court bench in session to Judge A. M. Allen. Clement being the present commonwealth's attorney of the county, will find it incumbent on him to appoint his own successor. While nothing has been given out that would indicate any definite choice at the present time, it is declared that the appointment will in all probability be between Major George Rison, Irvin Oberbey and D. T. Williams, all of whom are being mentioned.

It is also intimated that since E. S. Reid has been appointed a member of the staff of Governor Trinkle that he will relinquish the chairmanship of the Pittsylvania Democratic executive committee which will make another vacancy to be filled.

Mrs. W. L. Vernon continues quite ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. C. Stevens.

Hold Negro For Stealing Watches

Sam Ellis, a negro employed as an extra hand by the Southern Railway, who was arrested last Sunday by L. Wilson, detective for the company, for larceny, was held for the grand jury this morning on two warrants. One charged Ellis with the theft from R. M. Cole of a watch valued at $75, and the other with stealing a similar timepiece from C. G. Harshbarger. The value given in this case was $60. Both watches have been recovered after the negro confessed to taking them and told Detective Wilson where he could find them.

Ellis was arrested following a series of watch thefts, which have been taking place for some time. The negro's custom was to go into cars and take watches and other articles from pockets of members of the crew while they slept. He disposed of the stolen goods at various surrounding towns and it was necessary for the negro to accompany the owner on a trip of two days before the goods could be recovered. Wilson had been working on the case for quite a while before he could get evidence on the negro, who he considered was unusually shrewd in his operations.

Other cases disposed of were: Amos Davis fined $10 for violating the Mapp Act and an additional $40 for being drunk.

George Mitchell fined $10.95 for speeding. Summerlin, fined $10 and costs for violating the Mapp Act.

Lectures Boy For Calling Firemen

Edward Ross, a young white lad about 10 years of age, was this morning arraigned in the mayor's court on a charge of creating a disturbance by interfering with the fire department. After all the particulars had been heard, the mayor announced that he had reserved his decision in the matter until Monday.

Complaint was made by C. E. Alderson, of the fire department, against the boy, who claims that he called the fire station several times about 4 o'clock Sunday morning and created such a nuisance that he was forced to investigate. Alderson says that the telephone rang at that hour and when the phone was answered the person on the other end would hang the receiver up. This was repeated several times and finally Alderson asked the telephone operator to give him the number which had been calling him so persistently and then hang up. Mr. Alderson did not want to disregard the calls for fear that there might really be a fire and that the party could not get connections. The number was soon ascertained and it proved that it was the Ross boy, a paper carrier for The Register and The Bee. Mr. Alderson called the number and asked the boy what he meant by calling the fire department in such a manner and the youth replied that he was trying to get his mother to tell her that it would be impossible for him to get home at the time set by her. The boy, with tears trickling down his cheeks, denied this morning that it was his intention to call the fire station and said that he must have been given the wrong number.

Mayor Wooding gave the boy a stern talking and warned him that he was doing a big wrong if he was trying to call the fire department out, especially on Sunday morning when a heavy snow would have caused a great deal of unnecessary trouble.

The occurrence Sunday morning was just a short time before the department was called out to fight the large conflagration at the depot when the Southern station burned.

Several character witnesses were heard. One of the officers sought to show that the boy's reputation was considered bad, while one or two others testified to his good character and behavior. One of the officers stated that the lad had stolen a pistol some time ago, and that he had been in other trouble. The man from whom the pistol was alleged to have been stolen happened to be present and came forward in behalf of the boy. He testified that it was not the Ross lad who had taken the gun, but another boy, who admitted it, and whose name was not revealed. Edward himself denied that he had never stolen a pistol.

Carroll County Wants a Trolley

HILLSVILLE, Feb. 1.—A movement has been inaugurated by Carroll county business men looking to the building of an electric line from Jackson Ferry to Mount Airy, N. C., a distance of about 40 miles across the country. A meeting of business men interested in the project was recently held at Hillsville and an organization perfected. After the feasibility of such a movement and the benefits which could be obtained were generally discussed.

The committee named to devise means for promoting a line is comprised of E. W. Early, chairman; W. L. Martin, secretary; G. C. Skaggs, engineer; L. C. Webb, S. F. Landreth, R. C. Wilkinson and J. C. Goard. The chairman named a committee of three with a view to securing a joint committee from Virginia and North Carolina to cooperate in the movement composed of W. Glen Edwards, Dr. C. B. Nickolls, R. G. Lyons.

Subsequent meetings looking to furthering the organization and plans will be held February 4 in the court house at Hillsville, at which it is hoped to have every committee member present and a full representation of all interested in the movement. Steps will then be taken looking to securing a charter.

Member's Typewriter Gave Him "Applause"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Representative Latham, Democrat of Texas, amused the House today when he declared Representative Anson, New York city, Republican, for inserting the word "applause" in a speech he never made on the floor of the House, but had put in the Record under permission to extend his remarks.

Mr. Latham said one minute was given to Mr. Anson one day last week and that what he said was "I merely ask unanimous consent to rise and extend my remarks."

"And then he proceeds," Mr. Latham added, "in his extension of remarks to deliver himself of an imaginary answer, and, mirabile dictu, he has hardly launched upon it when he assures his reader that the House broke into 'applause.'"

"This," Mr. Latham continued, "is followed by four others of similar nature, making a total of five designations of applause in the gentleman's extension of remarks."

"Of course you know and I know," Mr. Latham continued, "that nothing of the kind occurred. He did not come to the rescue of Mr. Mondell, in a speech which he delivered in the chamber, and the House did not applaud. His only applause was the clicking of his typewriter."

Arms Delegates Sign "Citizens"

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Four American delegates to the Arms Conference gave a new example of democracy when they described themselves as citizens of the United States in affixing their signatures to the treaties.

Mrs. C. T. Wozack, district secretary for the Women's Methodist church, will meet with representatives from all the women's auxiliaries of that denomination at Mount Vernon, at 3:30 Friday afternoon, to plan for the state conference to be held at that place on early date. The ladies are urged to come.

Groundhog Saw His Shadow If He Was On Time

If Brother Groundhog was on time today and crept out of his hibernating quarters at noon (Danville time) he must have seen his shadow, beat it back to his burrow and opined that he would lay to for another forty days. Just at the hour of noon, fearful gleams of the sun were struggling through as though afraid of casting the beanie back to quarters. A few minutes before and after twelve the sun was sulking in his tent and refused to make any shadows at all. Professor George Rison, local authority on the habits and temperament of the groundhog, was sick today this morning and was in no position to digress upon the animal.

MR. GROUNDHOG SAYS—My what a shadow more cold due!

Webster tells us that Groundhog day and Candlemas have a distinct affiliation. Candlemas is the Feast of the Purification of the Virgin Mary, this being celebrated always on February 2nd. "In some parts of the United States," the lexicon runs, "Candlemas Day is often called Groundhog or woodchuck day, in allusion to the tradition that on that day the animal comes out of his hole and if he cast a shadow, runs back, in which case a return of wintry weather is to be expected."

Human Life Longer, Women Gaining Most

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Women live longer than men. Rural folk are more likely to attain ripe old age than city residents. Every one is living longer in this period than formerly, despite the wailing of calamity howlers. And—with the exception of France, India and Japan—foreign residents have more birthdays than Americans.

These conclusions are culled from an advance report made public today by the Department of Commerce through the Bureau of the Census, on tables showing the fluctuations in spans of life at different periods.

Among other facts deduced from the compilation of figures is that the longevity of women has increased in the last two decades. In 1901 half a year was added to this advantage. Also, it is shown that for the ages 40 to 49 for men and fifty for women there has been a general upward trend in the birthday list.

Although infants stand a better chance of survival in rural districts, a decrease of infant mortality has been observed in cities.

COOK—COOK

Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock the home of Rev. M. W. Royal on Mountain View was the scene of a quiet marriage, when Miss Bessie M. Cook, became the bride of Lindsey W. Cook. Only a few of the friends and relatives of the young couple witnessed the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Cook of near Pelham. The groom is a young business man of Shenandoah. They will make their home at this place.

Will Live Humbly Despite Millions

No Word Comes From R. M. Bliss

Members of the family of Mrs. R. M. Bliss, whose death in New York was recently recorded, have failed thus far to hear anything from the woman's husband who was found to be no longer at Chicago where he was employed in a brokerage office. No letter has come from him since the tragedy, and he has not been heard from, according to members of the family, in any way.

Since the young woman's burial it became known that at the request of members of the family the body was minutely examined by two Danville practicing physicians and they are quoted as having expressed their opinion that the young woman was "brutally murdered." Several close friends of the family who saw the body, declare that she bore scratches on the face, had body bruises and that fingers on which supposedly she wore rings were broken. Her neck also is said to have borne scars as though she had been choked and there were cuts about the body. These however probably were due to the surgical work performed after death in order to remove certain organs for chemical analysis to determine the tentative theory of death by an overdose of drugs.

From last reports Martin J. Ryan, who was with the girl when she sank into coma in the family, was from last reports still held on a charge of homicide in New York city.

Members of the family declare that they are mystified over the continued silence of Bliss who, according to their statements when at Danville with his wife comparatively recently, showed her much devotion.

Cardinals Gather In Secret Conclave

Hold Open Forum On Charter Change

There will be an open forum for debate at the Chamber of Commerce at 4 o'clock this afternoon on the question of amendments to the city charter at which time members of the council will be on hand to elucidate further motives governing the changes sought and to hear objections, if there be any, to some of the changes proposed.

Citizens will be heard in expression of their views on the numerous subjects involved in the charter change. The tax rate amendment is eliciting a good deal of interest and will doubtless be clarified by members of the council during the course of the evening. That work is being quietly done looking to the defeat of some of the charter amendments is known to those associated with the council which in a recent statement to the public declared that it was ready to run the city's affairs in a business like way similar to the conduct of any large business corporation.

A petition is said to be in circulation bearing on the tax rate question to be sent to Hon. J. B. Anderson tomorrow in Richmond.

$1,000,000 Law Suits to Follow Theatre Disaster

Score of Lawyers Examine Ruins to Lay Groundwork of Action for Criminal Negligence.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—More than a score of lawyers swarmed over the Knickerbocker theatre ruins today in a preliminary investigation to lay the groundwork for the filing of suits against the owners and management of the theatre, as a result of the disaster last Saturday night, when ninety-five persons were killed and 149 injured when the roof of the structure caved in.

It is estimated that these suits will total over $1,000,000. No suit has actually been filed yet, but several attorneys said today that they will begin filing this week.

The number of casualties was fixed at ninety-five dead and 149 injured by Acting Major Sullivan, superintendent of police, in a formal notification to the district commissioner today.

An unprecedented order issued this morning by the district commissioner, brought the faces of every public building in the city to half staff for a period of ten days.

Attending physicians at Walter Reed hospital tonight reported the condition of Edward H. Shaughnessy, second assistant postmaster general, as being greatly improved and stated he was a good chance to recover.

Little hope is held out for the recovery of Miss Carolina Upshaw, niece of Representative Upshaw, of Georgia, whose feet were so badly crushed that they had to be amputated.

Representative Brennan, Republican, Michigan, today scored the way District of Columbia is administered, and said the people should have had in making laws for their protection.

Tobacco Sales Are Big Despite Roads

Notwithstanding the bad conditions of the roads leading to Danville as a result of the heavy snow and subsequent thaw, tobacco sales here today were quite heavy and lasted until early in the afternoon. Many of the farmers testified to the difficulties they had of reaching the city owing to the soft condition of dirt roads which are now deep in mud.

Danville warehouses are declared safe now. Repairs are being made at Union and Acree's warehouses which suffered damage when portions of roofing fell in and sales are being held in them as compared to little of the floor space is exposed to the elements. Other warehouses have removed part of the accumulation of snow and structurally, it is said, the warehouses are no longer dangerous since much of the snow has melted and drained off.

Tobacco seen here today was for the most part inferior in quality. The small quantity of desirable leaf in evidence is in high demand and there has been a slight upward tendency in prices for such grades.

Decrease in Crime Is Seen in Danville

The number of arrests made in Danville during the month of January was 152 according to the report of the chief of police issued today. Of this number two persons were held for the grand jury and 19 were acquitted. The amount of fines and costs imposed by the mayor totalled $1,508.64. In the causes for arrest the list shows drunkenness, 41; assault, 6; carrying concealed weapons, 5; gaming house, 28; larceny, 4; violations of traffic ordinance, 10; violations of the Mapp Act, 12. These were the principal causes of detention.

The report reflects a decrease in crime over the previous month.

CHAPTER XI

Dave knew he was stubborn. No many men would have come on such a wild-goose chase to Denver in the hope of getting back a favorite horse worth so little in actual cash. But he meant to move to his end intelligently.

If Miller and Dobie were on the city they would be hanging out at some saloon or gambling-house.

rence street. While he chatted with his foot on the stool, a glass of beer in front of him, he made inconspicuous inquiries of bartenders. It did not take him long to strike the trail.

"Two fellows I knew in the catt country said they were comin' to Denver. Wonder if they did. One 'em's a big fat guy name of Miller-

"Come in here 'most every day," both of 'em. Waitin' for the Festival of Mountain and Plain to open up. Got some kinda concession. They look like your kind o' folks."

The bartender pulled himself to short and began polishing the top of the bar vigorously. He was a glib, slippery soul, and more than once his tongue had got him into trouble.

"They been quarrelin' a good deal together, you expect they'll combine about ready to bust up," he whispered confidentially.

"Quarrelin'? What about?"

"Oh, I dunno. They act like they're sore as a boil at each other. Honest, I thought they was gonna' to mix it up over their little squabble." "Heard 'em say they kinda cool off now."

Dave did not care how much the quarreled or how soon they fought after he had got back his horse. Until that time he preferred that they would give him only one trail to follow instead of two.

A faint smile came over his face.

"B. West.
"Say, Mr. West, if I find a hawk that's been stole from me, how can I get it back?"
"Some one steal a hawk from you?"
"Dave told his story." West listened to a finish.
"I know a lawyer here. We'll let him what to do," the ranchman said.
They found the lawyer at the Athletic Club. West stated the case.
"Your remed yis to replevin, they fight, you'll have to bring witnesses to prove ownership,"
"Bring witnesses from Malaya?"
"Why, I can't do that," said Dave, staggered.
"I ain't got the money. West can't I just take the hawks? I'mine."
"The law doesn't know it's yours."
"Some one like this would go to a lawyer, and of course he would let them to fight. The law was a darned queer thing. It made the recovery his property so costly that the crooks who stole it could laugh at him."
The way to recover flashed to him. "Brain the hawk!" he said. "He must get possession." All he had to do was to steal his own horse and walk off.

the hills. If the thieves found him later—and the chance swore that they would not even attempt pursuit if he let them know who he was—he would be free from the clutches of the law for Chiquito. What was said for the goose must be for the gander, too.

Dave's tramp had carried him across the Platte into North Denver. His way back he passed a corral close to the railroad tracks. He turned in to look over the horses.

The first one his eyes fell on was Chiquito.

EARNINGS OF U. S.

STILL DECLIN

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The financial statement of the United States Steel corporation for the final quarter of 1921, issued today, showed that the corporation failed to earn pro-than about one-sixth of the amount required to pay the common stock dividend for that period.

Total earnings of $19,12,033 against $18,918,058 in the previous period and net income of $11,322,012 were further reduced to $7,377,501 after deducting interest charges on bonds and adjustments of various accounts.

To meet the $12,654,700 required to pay dividends on the preferred and common shares, the directors drew from the undivided surplus the sum of $1,380,901. On the figures issued today only 21 cents was earned, the $1.20 to be paid to common shareholders for the last quarter.

Total earnings for the year amounted to $27,708,429, or just $17,000 in 1926. Total earnings in 1919 were $143,589,063 and in 1926, when the war boom was still on, a total of $199,350,689 was reported.

Today's statement as a whole reflected the sharp decline of production in the steel and iron industries during the last two months of 1922. Earnings for October, exclusive of a terest on bonds, amounted to $8,864,873. In November they fell to $100,727, and in December only $683,521 was earned.

ENGSTRUM OFFERS AMENDED PROPOSAL FOR MUSCLE SHOALS

Offer Comes on Eve of Delivery to Congress of Ford's Proposal.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(By the Associated Press)—On the eve of delivery to Congress by Secretary Weeks of Henry Ford's offer for the government properties at Muscle Shoals, Ala., Frederick E. Engstrum, of Wilmington, N. C., presented the war secretary with an amended proposal, to lease and operate the Muscle Shoals properties for the manufacture of nitrates for fertilizers.

The amended proposal was accompanied by a letter signed by Marlow Butler, acting legal advisor for Mr. Engstrum which recited the outstanding features of the proposal as follows:

A guaranteed cost to complete.

Government retains ownership and preserves assets of $141,000,000.

Return from investment of a basis of 400,000 kilowatt gross development, this lease will pay to the government, the letter says, $3,504,000 per year for 50 years or a total amount of 4 percent, interest of approximately $37,000,000, this cash will be used to produce cheap nitrates for fertilizers or can be turned into the treasury at the option of the government.

Success of nitrate manufacture which can be economically used for fertilizers is dependent entirely on sale of power, without the support of the power development and sale of excess power to finance the nitrate plants it would not be possible to continue the manufacture and sale of nitrates.

The power end of the industry is solely developed for the benefit of the factory. The separation of the factory from the power destroys the unity of the industry.

This lease proposes to devote the entire power development to the manufacture of nitrates, including the development of improved methods for the reduction of cost of producing nitrate. The quantity of nitrates annually produced is limited only by the amount of excess power sold and the selling price of nitrates fixed by the government.

The method proposed to finance by the sale of power, the manufacture of nitrates is the only possible method by which nitrates can be produced under present known methods and sold to the American farmers at a price less than the Chilean product.

"We will be glad," the letter concluded, "to consider any changes or amendments which you may suggest, with a view to accepting the same, if we can see our way clear so to do."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(By the Associated Press)—President Harding went out for himself early this evening and got a first-hand view of the slush bound canal.

Having read newspaper descriptions of the aftermath of the blizzard, the president decided to take some exercise and see for himself so accompanied by Secretary Christian he stepped away from the White House just before 6 o'clock and headed for the F Street shopping district which is to Washington what Fifth Avenue is to New York and Michigan Boulevard is to Chicago.

Thousands of government clerks, other home-going and late shoppers were wading through the slush in the sea of slush or anxiously picking their way over the ice-covered pavements as they jolted along or scrambled to get aboard the scarce and over-burdened trolley cars.

Flingers were stopping Colosses, while girls in fashions and young blades who inhabit the capital's late afternoon promenade street rubbed elbows with the president as he trudged alone, some of them without recognizing him.

In fact the president's vanguard through the slush almost A. L. Haroun Al-Raschid and surveyed the dirty snow banks still piled neck high in the busy streets three days after the snow stopped falling; waded through water and slush ankle deep in the chuck holes pavements, saw dozens of stalled motor cars and trucks and the small army of workmen struggling with the mess.

Mr. Harding ventured as far down as the patent office, where the service men pushing behind him then turned homeward to dinner gone over practically the same route.

Common report has had it that the president was much interested in the plight of the capital citizens that the work of cleaning up the remains of the blizzard is going slow and he may have gone forth to see for himself.

At the White House it was said he wanted a little exercise before dinner.

PROPER PERFUME FOR YOU TO USE? YOUR PERSONALITY TELLS, SAYS SHE

BY RUTH ABELING
NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—"Ah—perfume, madame (accent on the last syllable)? Yes, madame!" The white—Miss Anna Kobler speaks—you are being ushered into a booth, dainty and decorative, with dull silver trimmings at hand and soft velvet carpet under foot. And you sit down. And Miss Kobler sits opposite you. She begins—she may speak to you in either French or English. "Even dark, very dark—and your hair—rather straight isn't it? Dark too, almost blue light in it. Oval face—nicely rounded cheeks—now let me hear your voice."

"And you say something."

"Ah yes—just as I thought—voice soft, luscious."

"Picks Your Perfume"

"Well—madame (accent on the last syllable), something oriental you should have—now just try this!"

A thin glass dropper dampened with some heavenly smelling liquid is brushed along the back of your hand.

"Ah—I knew it would suit you exactly!" Miss Kobler had been watching your reaction and found the smile he knew would come!

That is the newest way of buying perfume. And Miss Kobler is manager and analyst at the Perfumerie Scherk. She picks the odor for you that suits your temperament and personality.

Miss Kobler is a graduate of Zurich University and a psychologist.

"For the very light woman—daxen hair, blue eyes, pink and white skin, orchid or violet is the scent," says she.

Dark hair, curly, slim faced—rose! Purple, which has a hint of mystery about it. Straight and curly haired women should have very different scents."

Criticizes Average Woman

For the woman with a tinge of red

late afternoon promenade street rubbed elbows with the president as he trudged alone, some of them without recognizing him.

In fact the president's vanguard through the slush almost A. L. Haroun Al-Raschid and surveyed the dirty snow banks still piled neck high in the busy streets three days after the snow stopped falling; waded through water and slush ankle deep in the chuck holes pavements, saw dozens of stalled motor cars and trucks and the small army of workmen struggling with the mess.

Mr. Harding ventured as far down as the patent office, where the service men pushing behind him then turned homeward to dinner gone over practically the same route.

Common report has had it that the president was much interested in the plight of the capital citizens that the work of cleaning up the remains of the blizzard is going slow and he may have gone forth to see for himself.

At the White House it was said he wanted a little exercise before dinner.

MISS ANNA KOBLER PICKING A PERFUME FOR A CUSTOMER

In her hair and eyes which are sometimes gray and sometimes green—no distinct odor at all but a mixture which Miss Kobler calls 'Mystique'.

"Lavender of course is that frank, eyed boyish type which swings along in a sports suit at all hours of the day."

"The average woman," says Miss Kobler, "isn't careful enough that her creams and powders and perfumes harmonize in scent."

PARENTS EATING OWN CHILDREN IN FAMINE RUSSIA

Conditions Described As Horrible in Telegram
From Orenburg

GENEVA, Feb. 1.—(By the Associated Press.)—Famine has reached such a terrible degree in the Orenburg district of Russia that people are killing each other and parents are eating their children, says a telegram received here today from a representative in Moscow of Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, head of the international committee of Russian relief.

The representative's telegram addressed to the Geneva bureau of the international committee was based upon information from a Russian representative attached to the American relief administration at Orenburg. The following authentic examples says the telegram, occurred in the village of Tullakova:

A man named Tuhvatulla Hallin, ate the corpse of his brother. A woman named Housna ate two of her children, and a man named Adam devoured his daughter.

Other cases of cannibalism were reported from the district of Gorn, near Orenburg, whither people arrived on foot, having walked two hundred to two hundred and fifty versts in order to obtain American aid.

DIAMOND-HEED-RIDING HEMO IN "FIGHTIN' MAD"

It is a thrilling story of rapid action, dealing with love, romance and adventure which William Desmond portrays in "Fightin' Mad," a Metro release for William Desmond Productions, which comes to the Broadway theatre tomorrow.

In this story is H. H. Van Loan, the youthful hero finds life on a ranch too quiet, to suit his adventurous disposition and decides to join the Border Patrol. He gets a stormy reception from his future comrades.

Scene from "FIGHTIN' MAD"

but his two-sided way of meeting all obstacles wins him a place and friends who stick to him in his daring attempt to rescue the girl of his love from bandits.

Supporting Desmond in the notable cast are Virginia Brown Faire, as leading lady; Rosemary Theby, who had the leading role in "A Connecticut Yankee"; Doris Fawn, Joseph J. Dowling, William Lawrence, Emmett C. King, Jack Richardson, William J. Dyer, Bert Lindley, George Stanley and Vernon Sniweley. "Fightin' Mad" was directed by Joseph J. Franz and photographed by Harry A. Gersted.

ORGANIZED THEFT OF MERCHANDISE

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The fight against organized theft of merchandise while in transit on motor trucks through the streets of New York, resulted in the indictment today of eight merchants and two chauffeurs on charges of receiving stolen property. The drivers also were charged with grand larceny. All were arrested.

The drivers confessed complicity in the theft of nine truckloads of merchandise valued at $50,000, according to Assistant District Attorney Murphy.

In the last six months the indicted men engineered ninety per cent of the numerous thefts of merchandise from trucks here, it was alleged. The stolen merchandise which the indicted men were alleged to have disposed of included furs, woolsens, wearing apparel and household articles.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL IN PEAKE CASE DENIED

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 1.—Motion for a new trial in the case of J. T. Peake, charged with the murder of H. B. Ashburn December 8 last in Winston-Salem, N. C., was overruled here today by Judge A. R. Nelson and Peake was allowed an appeal for a writ of certiorari and supercedens from the court of civil appeals for a review of his case by that court.

A direct appeal was not allowed by the court.
Judge Nelson in his decision directed that Peake's attorneys must get action from the court of civil appeals within 30 days during which time Peake will be held in custody in the Knox county jail. At the end of that time if the court has not acted on the appeal or has not issued an order staying the order for extradition, Peake will be taken back to Winston-Salem to be tried on the charge of murder and on the additional charges of false pretense and forgery.

RECOVERS HIS MEMORY AFTER OVER 2 YEARS

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—Quartermaster Sergeant William Ball, of the Canadian forestry corps, charged with the Dominion headquarters of the great war veterans' association with a story of having had his memory beaten out of him in 1919 and knocked back two years ago.

Ball said he had been beaten and robbed in Bordeaux in April, 1919, and that he had lost all recollection of his Canadian home. Later he joined the Spanish foreign legion and claimed recently to have recovered his memory after an officer had hit him on the head with a rifle in a jail in Refa, Morocco.

Ball was posted as a deserter after his disappearance and the veterans' association has been conducting a search for him in behalf of his wife, who lives in Port Hope, Ontario.

BILL RAINWATER IS NOT GUILTY

ASHEVILLE, Feb. 1.—"The" Rainwater, charged with the murder of Blaise L. Harsell, wealthy New York clubman, who disappeared while on a walking trip through the mountains of western North Carolina, was found not guilty in Mitchell superior court today. The jury heard without being charged with the murder of J. Shipley.

Mrs. Owen, jailer at Johnson City, Tenn., where Rainwater was imprisoned when first arrested, testified that Rainwater told her he had killed Harsell, and "would go to the chair, but would not go by himself." Attorneys for the defense maintained Rainwater's statements were made in a jocular manner and that no evidence to incriminate him had been presented other than that of Mrs. Owen.

SALVATION ARMY FIXES SKIRT LENGTH

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—The skirts of Salvation Army lasses must not be more than seven inches above the knees, according to an order issued here today by Commissioner William Peart, leader of the organization in 15 Mid-West States.

"A few years ago we were trying to persuade our women to wear them short," said Commissioner Peart in commenting upon the order. "The skirt that trails in the dirt gathering germs is a menace to its wearer's health; but the skirt that flaps around the knees is pretty much of a menace to the modesty of the woman who wears it."

The skirt is about the only thing which doesn't appear to be coming down these days and a back to normalcy drive on the too short dress will do a lot to protect the morals of the rising generation.

Commissioner Peart stated that the order would affect every Salvation Army member in 77 countries and colonies where the organization operates with Japan, where most of the women wear trousers.

Man of Interest Is Gov. Trinkle

He Is Lawyer, Business Man, Debater and Active Worker in Various Fraternal Organizations.

RICHMOND, Feb. 1.—Lee Trinkle of Wytheville, who was yesterday elected governor of Virginia, was born in Wytheville, Va. on May 1, 1875. He is the son of the late John S. Trinkle, a successful business man and farmer of Wythe county and a Confederate veteran. He is one of the youngest men ever honored with the supreme magistracy of this State.

Gov. Trinkle served as State senator from his district during the legislative sessions of 1916, 1918, 1920 and 1922 representing the counties of Wythe, Buchanan, Pulaski and Giles. For several years he served as chairman of his party in Wythe county and in 1916 led a brilliant fight against the C. S. Camp in an unsuccessful effort to remove the fighting North district from Republican rule.

The nomination of Governor Trinkle over Harry St. George Tucker in the Democratic primary of last August was achieved after a spectacular campaign in which the successful candidate stumped practically every county in the State. Entirely new political lights in the light of it was at first thought that the efforts of the aspirant from Wythe were bound to prove futile.

The prohibition vote and the support of the newly enfranchised white vote of Virginia served very largely to turn the tide against Tucker. The organization also backed Trinkle. The result was a victory by a 22,000 majority.

The Trinkle victory in the Democratic primary was but the forerunner of greater things to be achieved when this comparatively young leader of Democracy picked up the party standard of the State to lead his forces against the Republican party headed by Henry W. Anderson, of Richmond, their nominee. The outcome of this campaign, waged with unrelenting ardor on both sides, was an unparalleled Democratic victory of 75,000 majority. The opposition was utterly crushed and annihilated.

Governor Trinkle has for many years been an ardent advocate of woman suffrage. He is one of the ranking Masons in Virginia and a lawyer and orator of wide experience and of great ability. As a politician, he is possessed of a long and brilliant record. He is a past divisional commander of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, a member of the Odd-Fellows, Owls, Elks, Modern Woodmen, I. O. O. F., M. B. E., besides being a Shriner and a Scotch Rite Mason.

Governor Trinkle is a graduate at law of the University of Virginia, a graduate of the Wytheville Military Academy, took a recent course at Hampton-Simons College, where he graduated in 1896 with first honor of his class, received the A. B. and B. S. degrees, besides winning the oratorical and debater's medals.

Twenty years ago, when he placed in nomination the name of Judge Samuel W. Williams of Wythe county as candidate for attorney-general of Virginia, the party leaders assembled in State convention at Norfolk recognized that a new era had arisen in Virginia. The specially Governor Trinkle reminds one of the "Peerless Nebraska" William Jennings Bryan whom he resembles in gesture and often in expression.

Governor Trinkle is said to have been born a master of the art of debate, which faculty was greatly improved by the rough and tumble catch as catch can political methods of the many campaigns waged by him on his native heath. As a campaigner in Wythe, Pulaski, Bland and indeed throughout the Ninth congressional district he improved his faculty, which was polished and refined to a wonderful extent by his training in the State senate.

Governor Trinkle is a man of broad interests, and of deep sympathies. He is a lawyer, a farmer, is interested in banking, is vice-president of the Shenandoah Life Insurance Company, a member of the Virginia State Bank and interested in many other business enterprises.

The new governor of Virginia is a socialite in temperament (this expression not being employed in any other sense) and is demonstrated by the fact that he is a member of the Westmoreland Club of Richmond, the Shenandoah Club of Roanoke, the Southern Society of Washington, a member of the Wytheville and several other clubs.

Governor Trinkle is a member of the First Baptist church and has been a member of the Business Men's Club since its organization in Wytheville for many years. Friends of the new executive, after the election, were both Virginia and Wytheville. The new governor had a wife and three children. He is a member of the Wytheville and several other clubs.

More Teeth Are Wanted

RICHMOND, Feb. 1.—More teeth are needed in the Virginia prohibition law. That was the dominant note in addresses delivered this afternoon at the opening session of the state law enforcement convention held under the auspices of the Virginia Anti-Saloon League. B. L. Owens, special officer of Princess Anne county, was introduced to the assembly which crowded the seventh street Christian church as a living testimony to that nefarious deal search and seizure law. Just recently out of a hospital and with one arm in a sling he was summoned to the triumphant David Hepburn, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League and called on for a speech, but he was too modest to respond.

Hepburn in explaining that Owens had been shot and seriously wounded by a bootlegger who escaped declared that it was high time that enforcement officers were being given more protection under the law. He used particularly that the general assembly in session lost no time repeating the deal law which in his opinion places too many restrictions in the way of proper enforcement by requiring search warrants in all cases irrespective of emergency occasions.

Congressman A. W. Barclay of Kentucky took a fling at both the deal law and the "bone dry out" bill recently presented in the general assembly on recommendation of former Governor Davis. Commenting on the deal act, the Kentuckian declared that "we need something to prevent bootleggers from coming from proceeding on their way unmolested until a search warrant is procured" to require officers to get warrants in such cases before permitting them to make an arrest, was the height of absurdity, in his opinion.

As for the "bone dry out" which would be required of all office holders under terms of the bill, he declared that the present oath in which full allegiance to the constitution and laws is pledged is sufficient to cover every requirement. This statement was greeted with applause.

The congressman also rapped the "wet" newspapers engaged in spreading wet propaganda detrimental to the "dry" cause. He felt confident that the people would not stand for the unscrupulous lies being scattered by such mediums. He closed by expressing his confident conviction that the Eighteenth amendment whereby the country was made legally dry, would never be repealed.

W. H. Peed, Formerly Here, Wins Promotion

W. H. Peed, formerly manager of the Woolworth store in Danville and who recently has been in charge of an establishment in Birmingham, Ala. has recently been promoted to the post of superintendent of the Norfolk division. He will make his headquarters in Atlanta and will have a number of stores in Virginia and North Carolina under his charge.
